

John MacColl, Former Vice Chairman and General Counsel of St. Paul Travelers Joins FTI Consulting

January 11, 2006

Baltimore, MD - January 11, 2006

FTI Consulting, Inc. (NYSE: FCN), a premier provider of problem-solving consulting and technology services to major corporations, financial institutions and law firms, today announced that John MacColl, former vice chairman and general counsel of St. Paul Travelers, has been named executive vice president and chief risk officer of FTI, effective January 9, 2006. Mr. MacColl's primary responsibility will be the oversight of all the Company's risk management activities. He assumes this position as Barry Kaufman becomes the leader of FTI's technology consulting segment, which was announced today by FTI in a separate release.

In addition to his executive roles with St. Paul Travelers, and its predecessor company, St. Paul Companies, he served on the St. Paul board of directors from May 2002 to April 2004. Prior to The St. Paul, Mr. MacColl was a member of senior executive management at USF&> Corporation, performing in a similar role. Before joining USF&>, he was a partner in the law firm of Piper & Marbury specializing in securities and commercial litigation.

Commenting on his appointment, Jack Dunn, FTI's president and chief executive officer, said, "John brings to FTI an impressive 30 year career at the highest levels of corporate and legal America. As we continue to embrace future growth opportunities and strive to achieve our goal of being a highly profitable, billion dollar company by the end of 2009, no one is better qualified than John to help us identify, assess and overcome any issues that may lie ahead."

Mr. Dunn continued, "Specifically, his experience dealing with top flight professionals in people businesses and performing complex engagements in the areas of litigation, finance and risk mitigation will be invaluable. His forte in helping build an institution that, in turn, helps its people to better serve their clients, better achieve their career goals and better reward them for their efforts is ideally suited to enhancing FTI's already strong commitment to quality assurance and attention to risk management. We are delighted to welcome him to our team."
