

FTI Announces Two Executive Appointments - Roger Carlile as Chief Human Resources Officer and David Bannister as Chief Administrative Officer

January 20, 2009

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 20 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- FTI Consulting, Inc. (NYSE: FCN), the global business advisory firm dedicated to helping organizations protect and enhance their enterprise value, today announced that Roger Carlile has been appointed to the position of Executive Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer and David Bannister will become the Chief Administrative Officer in addition to his ongoing duties as Executive Vice President and Chief Development Officer.

In his new position, Mr. Carlile will be focused on FTI's biggest asset, its people. He will work with FTI's senior leadership and Segment leaders to attract, develop, and retain outstanding talent. He will be responsible for all aspects of FTI's human resources activities, including: recruiting, learning and development, performance management, leadership development, succession planning, compensation and benefits, as well as the Human Resources Service Center.

Mr. Carlile has served as the global leader of FTI's Forensic and Litigation Consulting Segment for the past five years, has over twenty years of client service experience, and brings his understanding of FTI's clients, operations and people to his new role. Neal Hochberg, the current leader of the North American Forensic and Litigation Consulting practice, will succeed Mr. Carlile as the global leader of the Forensic and Litigation Consulting Segment.

Announcing the appointment, Jack Dunn, President and CEO of FTI Consulting, stated: "Roger will have a major influence on FTI's future by ensuring our continued success in attracting, retaining, nurturing and motivating the best talent within a culture of excellence. FTI's strategy is to foster an environment where the best solutions-driven consulting professionals choose to conduct their careers. We welcome Roger to our executive management team."

Mr. Bannister's additional role as Chief Administrative Officer is a new position for FTI and is designed to provide direction and coordination of all the executive staff functions within FTI.

Mr. Dunn commented, "Since joining FTI four years ago, David has led our strategic development activities and successfully spearheaded more than 20 acquisitions that have broadened our services, expanded our reach around the globe, and for the nine months ended September 30, 2008 generated more than $300 million in revenue. In addition to continuing to lead this important growth function, we believe he can help us bring greater focus and discipline in analyzing, organizing, and improving the efficiency of our Company. David's background as a consultant, investment banker, and private equity investor gives him a terrific perspective on the challenges that organizations face as they grow. He also has broad exposure to all of our Segments and excellent working relationships with our Segment leaders and executive officers. We believe this new role and focus will allow us to creatively generate efficiencies within the Company."

This press release may include "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 that involve uncertainties and risks. Forward-looking statements include statements concerning our plans, objectives, goals, strategies, future events, future revenues, future results and performance, expectations, plans or intentions relating to acquisitions and other matters, business trends and other information that is not historical, including statements regarding estimates of our future financial results. When used in this press release, words such as "estimates," "expects," "anticipates," "projects," "plans," "intends," "believes," "forecasts" and variations of such words or similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, estimates of our future financial results, are based upon our expectations at the time we make them and various assumptions. Our expectations, beliefs and projections are expressed in good faith, and we believe there is a reasonable basis for them. However, there can be no assurance that management's expectations, beliefs and projections will result or be achieved or that actual results will not differ from expectations. The Company has experienced fluctuating revenue, operating income and cash flow in some prior periods and expects this will occur from time to time in the future. Other factors that could cause such differences include the pace and timing of the consummation and integration of past and future acquisitions, the Company's ability to realize cost savings and efficiencies, competitive and general economic conditions, retention of staff and clients and other risks described under the heading "Item 1A. Risk Factors" in the Company's most recent Form 10-K and in the Company's other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We are under no duty to update any of the forward-looking statements to conform such statements to actual results or events and do not intend to do so.
